Keynote: Leading in a Liminal Season

The Church is in a liminal season, an era which finds us betwixt and between a predictable past and a highly uncertain future. Something has ended, but a new thing is not yet ready to begin. How do you lead when you don't know where you or the Church are going? Join us as we explore the unique leadership stance and the focused body of work required in liminal seasons.

Susan Beaumont

Rev. Susan Beaumont is a consultant, author, coach, and spiritual director. Susan's educational background includes a MBA from Northwestern University and a MDiv from McCormick Theological Seminary. She has consulted with over one hundred congregations and denominational bodies across the United States and in Canada. She is known for her ground-breaking work in the leadership dynamics of large congregations. She is an ordained minister within the American Baptist Churches, USA. She currently attends a Presbyterian Congregation.

Thursday, July 19 — A Workshops — 1:00pm – 2:45pm

A1 – The Roles in a Construction Project (Churches by Daniels)

As a church administrator or executive pastor what are my responsibilities for any construction project? What other people will I need to put around me to help me? What are the roles of all the parties involved in planning, designing, building, and moving into a renovated, expanded, or new space? When you understand the big picture, from beginning to end, then finding the right people to fill each role will give you a much greater chance for success.

Rodney James

For 20 years Rodney James served as pastor. During his ministry God allowed Rodney to complete multiple building projects. In 2012 Rodney joined the Churches by Daniels team as director of business and finance. By utilizing his experience and talents in ministry and business he is able to bring a unique perspective to building churches. Rodney has written articles on church construction for multiple publications, and has been invited to speak at multiple conventions and events.

A2 – Cast Down but Not Destroyed (GuideOne)

Churches are not immune from natural disasters, including tornado, hurricane, flood, wildfire, severe thunderstorm, and hail. This workshop will use a case study approach regarding a devastating EF-3 tornado that struck William Carey University in Hattiesburg, MS, on January 2017, damaging 98% of their campus. The workshop will walk participants through the recovery process, with key lessons learned that would benefit all churches, schools, and colleges in their disaster preparedness and recovery planning.

Paul Niles

Paul has over 15 years' experience in property large loss claims adjusting, claims supervision, and claims management, along with over 30 years of restoration and construction management experience of which the last 12 years having been employed GC3, LLC.

Dr. Scott Hummel

Dr. Scott Hummel has been the executive vice president and provost at William Carey University since 2013. From 2008-2013 he was the vice president for Advancement and Church Relations as well as the director of the Carey Scholars program. Before coming to Carey, his alma mater, he was professor of Biblical Studies and chair of the Department of Biblical Studies and Christian Ministries at LeTourneau University in Longview, TX, from 1998-2008.

A3 – Reaching across Generations (HH Architects)

The takeaway of this presentation is to recognize that the influence of architectural design in creating intentional and meaningful spaces for reaching and transforming people. Attendees will understand how ministries are influenced by generational needs and desires and why HH Architects aims to reach and include all generational demographics. They will be able to translate and balance how programming and design can impact and enhance ministry decisions as well as church growth.

Bruce Woody

Bruce Woody is the CEO and president for HH Architects and a frequent speaker on both large and small scale church/ faith-based campus planning projects. Since joining the firm in 1990, he has served as Design Lead or Principal-in-Charge on the vast majority of the firm's large scale projects, many of which have been award-winning. Bruce brings creative solutions to each project that allows them to be on time and on budget.

E1 — From Math to Meaning! (Horizons Stewardship)                      We will address the fear leaders/members have about fundraising when generosity is reduced to a budget-focused, numbers-crunching, math-driven process. The annual fund campaign can be as captivating as the household chore of paying the bills. Unknowingly, when the focus is primarily on budgets, it also means it is primarily all about leadership. While leadership is critically important, the greater focus has to be around discipleship, transformation, and spiritual growth. Let's move "From Math to Meaning!"	Joel Mikell     Doug Turner  	Joel Mikell is senior vice president/partner at Horizons Stewardship. A gifted leader, teacher and motivational speaker on relational, holistic stewardship, Joel has helped 170+ churches raise more than $600 million since 2000. He wrote Crafting a Theology of Stewardship (and Why Your Church Needs One) and co-wrote Church Giving Matters and The Ministry of Giving, the only book of its kind to focus on ministering to financial leaders outside of a campaign. Doug Turner is president at Culture of Ready. For 25+ years, Doug has helped churches experience God when least expected: during a capital campaign. Motivated by a heart for ministry, he started Culture of Ready to help churches live in the tension that is generosity. Clients include Willow Creek Community Church (pastor: Bill Hybels); First Baptist Church Dallas (pastor: Robert Jeffress); and Granger Community Church (pastor: Mark Beeson).

He has worked with over 600 churches nationwide, facilitating in every aspect of the development process, including site selection/design and congregational education, as well as pre-sales and marketing ideas.
E4 – Compensation &amp; Benefits Reporting                      In this in-depth review of special rules and guidelines relating to ministerial wages and fringe benefits, our first objective is to help ministers understand their special tax benefits. The second is to assist churches on how to identify, record, and report ministerial wages, housing allowances, and fringe benefits. We review the basic concepts of ministerial compensation and present more complex situations involving payroll tax reporting, withholding, housing allowance, and other issues. Our review continues with fringe benefit scenarios.	Becky Allen     Chandra Binder  	Becky Allen is the Client Accounting services manager with Stanfield + O'Dell.
