Keynote: Making Sense of Congregational Finances                      At the same time religious leaders worry more and more about the uncertain future of funding faith communities, we know less and less about what is actually happening with congregations' financial situations. The National Study of Congregations' Economic Practices (NSCEP) recently released initial findings of the largest nationally representative study in a generation focused on how congregations' receive, manage and spend their financial resources. Come hear what we learned and how to apply best practices within your own congregation.	David King 	David P. King, PhD is the Karen Lake Buttrey Director of the Lake Institute on Faith and Giving as well as assistant professor of Philanthropic Studies within the Indiana University Lilly Family School of Philanthropy. He is a graduate of Samford University and Duke Divinity School. His PhD in religion is from Emory University. Having served local churches and national faith-based organizations, he is also fueled by facilitating conversations with faith leaders, donors, and fundraisers (of all generations) around the intersections of faith and giving. Trained as an American religious historian, his research interests include investigating how the religious identity of faith-based nonprofits shapes their motivations, rhetoric, and practice. He is the author of the recent book, God's Internationalists: World Vision and the Age of Evangelical Humanitarianism (UPenn, 2019), and the director of the National Study of Congregations' Economic Practices (NSCEP).

A2 – Strategies to Increase Ministry Funding (Horizons Stewardship)                      Previous donor strategies are failing to produce the funding to fully achieve churches ministry plans. A fundamental reason is failure to understand how major trends in giving are impacting donations. You will learn the latest research in giving and how and why these trends are affecting your ministry funding. You will gain an understanding of critical strategies used by the best funded churches today and the practice used to implement them. We will reveal how these trends and strategies impact high capacity, core and new/prospective donors differently.	Joel Mikell   Rhodes Logan  	Joel Mikell is a partner and senior vice president at Horizons Stewardship. Since 2000, he has served the local church through the ministry of stewardship and generosity. His passion for this ministry comes from seeing churches experience profound spiritual growth and individual lives transformed through stewardship journeys built around prayer and scripture. Joel is the author of Crafting a Theology of Stewardship and co-author of Church Giving Matters and The Ministry of Giving.  Rhodes Logan is a vice president with Horizons Stewardship with over twenty years of experience. As a seasoned fundraising professional, he has expertise in capital campaigns, major gift solicitations, planned giving, annual giving programs, and development communications. Through his ministry, Rhodes discovered his passion for working with local churches and religious non-profits. He is inspired by the transformational work of his clients to guide them to success and achieve funding for their missional objectives.
A3 – Data Analytics: Divine Insight of Heresy (ACS Technologies)                      Many churches are familiar with the basic tenets of analyzing data to provide some insight on the health of their church, but delving “deeper into the data” almost sounds sacrilegious...and daunting. This session will help churches and leaders begin to understand the basics of data analytics, expose some of the myths and stigmas around it, and see how this technology can be an invaluable tool to better understand and serve their people and communities.	Brett Herzog  	Brett Herzog is a husband, father, pastor and tech nerd. He has served in new product development for the last 15 years for industry leading companies such as Thomson Reuters, ACT and Follett Corporation. He currently serves as the director of product management of Analytics for ACS Technologies – helping churches and organizations realize the key role that data analytics can play in helping them fulfil their mission and vision.
A4 – Changing Landscape of Religious Giving                      Fundraisers and stewardship leaders must understand a changing landscape in order to engage in effective fundraising in the 21st century. Moving toward a new paradigm of religious philanthropy can create opportunities for congregations and religious organizations to adapt, innovate, and express their vision for the future. Applying the latest research and data on religious giving, this workshop will help congregational leaders to understand their context, make informed decisions around religious fundraising, and reflect on their generosity and stewardship practices.	David King  	David P. King, PhD, is the Karen Lake Buttrey Director of the Lake Institute on Faith and Giving as well as Assistant Professor of Philanthropic Studies within the Indiana University Lilly Family School of Philanthropy. Keynote: Building a Spiritual Foundation as an Administrator Administration is often critiqued both by those within the profession and without as work that takes good, fun-loving people and turns them into anxious curmudgeons, but it doesn't have to be that way. Speaking out of her own experience in parish and educational administration, Ann Garrido will look at practices of administration that can be potentially transformative, making us not only effective administrators but holier, healthier Christians. We will be invited to reassess our own daily tasks with an eye toward how they might serve not only the greater Reign of God, but our own personal spiritual journey.	Ann Garrido 	Ann Garrido, DMin, is associate professor of homiletics at Aquinas Institute of Theology in St. Louis, MO. While her first passion is teaching, for the past fifteen years, she has found herself increasingly drawn into administrative roles including (at varying points in time) serving as her school's Director of the DMin in Preaching, Director of MAPS Catechesis of the Good Shepherd, Director of Field Education, Director of Distance Learning, and Director of the Aquinas Ministry Integration Project. Garrido has served as senior editor of Human Development Magazine and is the author of eight books, including the award-winning volumes Redeeming Administration (Ave Maria Press, 2013) and Redeeming Conflict (Ave Maria Press, 2016). Ann now commits half-time to traveling nationally and internationally doing conflict education and mediation work with Triad Consulting Group, founded by two members of the Harvard Negotiation Project based in Cambridge, MA.

C2 – How to Engage Millennials (Vision2Systems)                      These are just a few job titles for today's Millennials. They are in the age range of 22-37 (2018) and are our largest generation to date. Out of all the causes that Millennials support, places of worship are their second most supported cause. So how do we engage this age group in a church community long-term with giving? Vision2Systems has just the tools to connect and bring Millennials into a lasting, effective, and impactful giving routine.	Heiko Henning    Jim Trotta  	Heiko Henning is the chief revenue officer at Vision 2 Systems leading client relationships and client success. His experience cuts across business strategy and technology enablement at companies including Blackbaud, Lante, and Trilogy. He holds a BS in computer engineering from the University of Illinois at Urbana, and a MBA from the Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University. He has volunteered with Habitat for Humanity, the ASPCA, the South Carolina Aquarium, and the Coastal Conservation League.  Jim Trotta is the director of New Client Engagement at Vision2 Systems. After 20+ years of B2B, retail and nonprofit software experience, he joined Vision 2 in 2018 and now leads a team dedicated to helping churches learn more effective and efficient ways to inspire and manage generosity for their congregations. Jim is an Army veteran, holds an MBA from University of Pittsburgh and his family of four serves on the Dream Team at Seacoast Church.
C3 – Mastering Workplace Investigations (Fisher Phillips)                      This powerful workshop provides best practices essential for workplace investigating; effective interviewing skills; assessing credibility; weighing evidence; and assessing the complainant's requests for confidentiality. Participants will be given the skills needed to write effective investigation reports that can withstand scrutiny. This comprehensive program is filled with practical tips, and techniques to advance investigative skills. Using interactive exercises, the attorney will outline a step-by-step internal investigation process that can be applied in all types of investigations.	Lisa McGlynn  	Lisa McGlynn, JD, is an attorney with Fisher Phillips Tampa office. She represents employers in all areas of labor and employment law. She defends employers in state and federal court litigation and arbitration on a wide variety of employment-related claims, including claims arising under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act, FMLA, ADEA, FLSA, the Florida Civil Rights Act, and the Florida Private Whistleblower Act. Additionally, Lisa counsels on general employment law issues to ensure compliance.
C4 – Redeeming Conflict as Administrator                      Many of us were drawn into church administration imagining that it would involve working in a peaceful environment with kind-hearted people. But every community faces conflict, even church communities, and often the administrator finds her/himself right in the middle of it. As a follow up to her morning key note, Ann Garrido will talk about what she has learned from her studies with the Harvard Negotiation Project about ways of better understanding the tensions administrators often face and effective strategies for breaking through situations of impasse.	Ann Garrido  	Ann M. D1 – A Proven Answer to Skyrocketing Benefits (Christian Healthcare Ministries) There is a Biblical answer to skyrocketing group healthcare costs. Too good to be true? We implemented a non-insurance gold-level plan, and it saved us over $1M in the first year. The plan partners Christian Healthcare Ministries’ cost-sharing model with an ACA-compliant HRA plan. Most medical bills over $500 are shared by CHM, while the HRA plan covers the rest. There is no minimum group size. We’ll review the plan design, vendors, and more.	Bea Rosenhauch 	Bea Rosenhauch, PHR, is the HR director for Pine Cove, a large group of Christ-centered camps in Texas and South Carolina.
